Tim Brown Tournament Brings Together Wrestling's Best

Hundreds of the top high school wrestlers from Northern California, Nevada and Oregon will spend the weekend competing in the Tim Brown Memorial Wrestling Tournament Jan. 18 and 19 at the Sacramento Convention Center, 1400 J Street.

The event begins at 9 a.m. both days, with the finals at 3 p.m. on Saturday. Tickets are $10 for adults—$15 for a two-day pass—and $5 for kids and seniors.

“We’re excited to be able to host this special event again,” says tournament founder William Lum, who’s also the athletic director and wrestling coach at Foothill High School. “Approximately 850 wrestlers are expected to compete in 14 weight classes. This is a tough tournament. You’re going to see some great matches with some top-ranked wrestlers.”

This is the seventh year the tournament has taken the name of Brown, a former Foothill High School wrestler who was killed in action in Iraq in 2006.
