Tuskegee Airmen Present Living History

Harmon Johnson Elementary School Kicks off Black History Month

Sacramento, CA – History class doesn't get much better than this ... original Tuskegee pilots will be joined by Edith Roberts, wife of a deceased airman, to bring a piece of living history to 1,200 elementary students.

Roberts will provide an extensive display of memorabilia, including original press clippings by embedded journalists prior to and during World War II.

Harmon Johnson School is hosting an afternoon of assemblies to kick off Black History Month. They have invited students from neighboring Noralto Elementary School to join them for this once in a lifetime opportunity.
